Conditions For Lodging Claims

The Secretary of State for the Colonies has now signified his approval to the Hong Kong Government's recommendations regarding back pay for government servants, Volunteers and members of the Civil 'Defence Service in respect of the period during which the Colony was under enemy occupation.

Government's recommendations to the Secretary of State were based on the proposals of a Committee appointed by Sir Mark Young on August 16, 1946, in order to "examine the position of Government servants, Volunteers and Civil Defence Personnel who were not interned during the Japanese occupation of the Colony and to make recommendations regarding the award of salary or pay in respect. of that period".

Not Failures

"Prison and exile have been their common fare, but that their careers have not been failures thus far is marked by the fact that 20 per cent of them today hold Cabinet posts in various Governments, while 40 per cent are members of their national legislative bodies. "For slightly more than onethird of the names listed we know the year in which they joined the Communist Party. It is a striking fact that slightly more than one half of these have been avowed Communists since 1922 or earlier, while fully threefourths have been members least since 1927, the year Trotsky's exile.

"Two implications arise; first that the average Communist leader is both rather young in years and long in party experi-ence. Second, that the Commun-

By the decision of the Colonial Office and Imperial Treasury to treat large amounts advanced to Hong Kong as free grants, the cost of the big share-out has been removed from the shoulders of the Hong Kong taxpayer, and the issue has thereby been successfully side-tracked.

The commitment now announced may be similarly removed, for it might well be considered a logical step to attach it to the further escorting their expedition to Nary free grant of £1,000,000 "to assist the Colony in resolv- was a hattle-and the two ing problems arising out of expenditure connected with 18,000 yards and soon thit the the war." There is nothing to suggest that the disposal of the £1,000,000 mentioned must come within the purview of the Legislative Council, any more than the £3,000,000 allocated to an airport, the scheme for which seems at the moment just as nebulous as that for the organisation of a Municipal Council.

of the country. Sir Sydney Caine, C.M.G., proposing the tonst of the British industrialists who sponsored the gathering, spoke of his long association with Hong Kong and the confidence felt of China Trade Press Ltd., who tunity provided for , honouring the visitors from Hongkong. Al though the delegation would receive many official welcomes, this-was-a-private party of industrialists representing the types of organizations with which their visitors wished to make contact. He felt he could fairly say that in the past they had contributed a great deal to the development of Hong Kong and that they hoped to contribute by their crafts and services to its well-being in the future. The delegation would find that although less than three years had elapsed since the defeat of Japan, considerable progress had been made in changing over from wartime needs to full scale peacetime pursuits and export endeavour. Since VJ Day, the heavy engineering industries of Gt. Britain had shipped to Hong Kong two major turbo generator, units, boller plants, and auxiliaries and ancilliaries specially designed and tailor-made jobs as well as replacement parts for essential equipment which was demolished.

One of the sponitectural wonders of Britain has just been opened to the public. It is the remarkable Underground "Concourse" at the new Gante Hill Station on the Central line in Lordon. It is a lofty domed half 40 feet beneath the ground sited between the up, and down platforms of the station and has been built to anable the heavy, flow of passengers to spread out freely and avoid bunching. It is 150 feet long and 20 feet high, is illuminated by etrip-lighting and observers have described its appearance as Cathodral-like.
